7. Funding to Support Early Year Language and Literacy Skills

The funding is designed to offer practical help to parents who need help teaching their children reading, writing and language skills, for example by accessing home visits and online tools. Voluntary and community groups with a proven track record of breaking down learning barriers for children with additional needs will be able to bid for a share of the fund to run projects that help disadvantaged families and children with additional needs. These children are more likely to experience a 'word gap' when they arrive at primary school i.e. a gap in communication skills between disadvantaged children and their peers. This can have a long-term impact on a child's education. Giving parents the confidence to work with their children on speech and language before they start school has been shown to be one of the most effective ways to ensure children have the right foundations for a successful education. Projects could include:

- Home visits from trained early years professionals, to help parents support their children in learning new words through simple steps like reading and singing nursery rhymes
- Easy-to-use online tools that help broaden the vocabulary parents use with their babies.

8. Funding for Projects that Support the Education and Development of Children and Young People

Schools, colleges and community groups in England can apply for grants to BlueSpark Foundation to support the education and development of children and young people through educational, cultural, sporting and other projects. Many grants will be under £2,000, most will be under £5,000 and only in a few cases will grants exceed £10,000. Funding provided by BlueSpark for a project must be crucial to the project rather than marginally incremental to its funding. The funding available can be for physical assets such as iPads, sports equipment, or lighting for stage productions or for services or facilities such as sports coaching or music or drama tuition or simply for the provision of experiences such as theatre visits. These examples are intended to be illustrative and not restrictive as to the funding which BlueSpark may provide to support projects. #### 9. Funding to Support Victims of Domestic Abuse

The Fund will support proposals for the provision of core support for refugees and other accommodation-based services, helping local areas ensure that no one is turned away from the support they need. For example, bids could be for specialist refuge places or for specific groups (i.e. for victims with mental health problems, substance abuse problems, or particular needs of different ethnic communities), or, where this best meets local need, other accommodation-based services with specialist support, or other services that enable victims to access this support. All bids must help deliver the local strategy for domestic abuse provision and provide evidence of local need and gaps in provision in their own right to meet local needs. The Ministry of Housing, Community and Local Government will accept a maximum of £100,000 maximum per individual partnership bid but will consider bids of more than £100,000 which proactively work across a number of local authority boundaries.
