Introduction

Through a challenging commissioning process Northumberland County Council has created a framework of alternative education providers for children of statutory school age. Whilst it seeks to provide high quality education to meet the needs of all children and young people requiring an alternative to education in school, there is an emphasis on pupils being provided with the opportunity to achieve academic accreditations, particularly in English and mathematics.

The Council will use the catalogue to place students who are permanently excluded into alternative provision. Schools and academies, are able to commission services directly from the provider in the knowledge that the provider has met a set of educational standards and are the subject of ongoing quality assurance by the Council.

In order to be accepted onto the framework, providers were required to demonstrate ability in a number of areas which included:

- the ability to meet service user needs - including details on the types of packages and provision available for all learners including those with SEND,

- arrangements for safeguarding the welfare of children and young people and multi agency work,

- a demanding curricula and high levels of achievement of learners, attendance rates and post 16 progression,

- access to a skilled workforce.

The quality assurance of the alternative providers is an ongoing process designed to ensure that all users have confidence in the services offered. Providers receive an annual site visit from a School Improvement Partner, the Commissioning Team and a member of the Inclusion Team in order to consider both performance and contract monitoring.

I trust that you find this approach and document useful and that it is successful in supporting you to drive up the academic standards achieved by our most vulnerable learners.

Andy Johnson
Director of Education
Overview

The Framework is intended to meet the needs of children and young people at Key Stage 1, 2, 3 and 4 who are permanently excluded from school; excluded from school on a fixed-term basis; at risk of disengaging from mainstream education and/or being excluded from school; who require additional support during a negotiated transfer between mainstream schools; who otherwise require alternative education provision to meet their educational entitlement, for instance in line with an Education Health Care Plan or a Looked After Child with no school place.

The Framework does not include the following:

- Residential provision (either in or out of authority)
- Education provision for 16 -19 year olds

Details of Types of Provision

In line with the strategy for inclusion, the framework is designed to support the delivery of the following interventions at each of the key stages:

Full Time Provision:

This is designed to provide alternative education, securing appropriate learning experiences and qualifications for individual pupils to ensure progression.

A pupil’s entitlement to full time education at Key stage 1, 2, 3 and 4 is defined as:

- KS1: 21 hours
- KS2: 23.5 hours
- KS3/4: 24 hours
- KS4 (Yr 11): 25 hours

Full Time-Short Term Provision:

A “revolving door” package can be negotiated by schools/academies for pupils to be placed in alternative provision for a fixed period of time only, with the fundamental aim of the learner returning to their “home” school after the agreed fixed period has ended.

It is recommended that this provision is for 6-12 weeks and either full-time or part-time with the remainder of the education offer being delivered by a mainstream/special school. All providers who deliver the substantive part of a pupil’s education are considered by OFSTED and the DfE to be full time providers and must register as independent schools.

Part time engagement in such provision will only be in place as a short-term transition arrangement or where full-time learning is not appropriate due to a medical condition or special educational needs.

Part Time Provision:

As per full time provision, this will provide part of a package that as a whole delivers the full curriculum necessary to secure appropriate learning experiences and qualifications for individual pupils.
Preventative Programmes:
Preventative programmes are bespoke programmes to be delivered for the purpose of prevention exclusion of individual pupils or groups of pupils on a fixed term or permanent basis. A preventative programme can be negotiated by the school/academy with the provider. Such programmes will not in the main form part of the core educational entitlement or take pupils “off site” for extended or regular periods of time.

Programmes may vary in length, according to the needs of the individual or group and the agreement between provider and commissioner.

General Requirements
The Council expect that the alternative education provision will be individualised with:

• opportunities for small group learning;
• one-to-one support or mentoring where appropriate;
• programmes which specialise in providing for a particular age range;
• programmes which operate in line with school term dates;
• programmes which provide vocational opportunities;
• programmes which provide opportunities for personal and social development;
• help to provide pupils with strategies to try and address their behaviour/motivation;
• ability to establish consistent standards and expectations with students to support reintegration to school e.g. attendance, punctuality, behaviour, dress code;
• ability to provide relevant support where pupils exhibit additional needs;
• ability to provide DfE recognised courses across a range of activity areas which are valued by pupils and schools;
• ability to provide updates on targets and progress within agreed timescales;
• ability to establish efficient systems for communicating with commissioners, parents and where applicable the school at which the pupil is on roll.
School Statutory Obligations

The framework does not remove or affect any of the statutory obligations and duties upon schools in relation to the provision of education or the exclusion of children and young people from school. Further, it does not affect the agreed practice in relation to this activity locally. Any child or young person placed by a school in alternative education provision, either full or part-time, remains on the roll of that school and responsibility for delivering the full-time statutory education offer and all other duties in respect of that child remains with the school. Where a child or group of children are engaged in a preventative programme, whether on or off-site, they remain the responsibility of the school.

Specifically, the commissioning school remains responsible for the monitoring and tracking of progress of individual children and young people and confirming that the provision given is of good quality, value for money and meets the pupil’s needs.

If schools or academies purchase alternative educational provision from providers not listed on the framework, the referring school or other body must ensure the provision meets required standards and that appropriate contracting arrangements are in place.

Whether commissioning from an “on framework” or “off framework” provider schools must also be aware of the DfE advice issued to proprietors and prospective proprietors of independent special schools in England - Registration of independent schools January 2016. This was refreshed in January 2016 and defines “full time education” for the purposes of registration as: any institution that is operating during the day, for more than 18 hours per week, to be providing full-time education. This is because the education being provided is taking up the substantial part of the week in which it can be reasonably expected a child can be educated, and therefore indicates that the education provided is the main source of education for that child. (page 6)

If Ofsted has reason to believe that a provider is operating under these circumstances then it will conduct a section 97 inspection to assess whether the provision is operating as an illegal independent school. Pupils still have a statutory entitlement to full time education of 25 hours per week. Unregistered providers however should not be the substantive education provider and can only contribute up to 18 hours of that entitlement to a maximum of 4 pupils and must provide less for any looked after child or child with a statement or EHC Plan.

Newcastle College’s School of Education Services, Young People’s Learning Department has clear objectives for this forthcoming Alternative Provision Framework and will continue to offer course programmes that provide individually tailored learning and support, but have a key emphasis on enabling young people to achieve recognised and accredited qualifications.

A School Improvement Partner Visit commissioned by Northumberland County Council in 2017 reported that:
• The provision underwent annual quality assurance visits by a group of external consultants.
• The self-evaluation is based on CIF framework and contributes to an annual whole college self-evaluation of its quality of provision.
• There are a small number of pupils on roll this provides for good teacher/adult to pupil ratio.
• The provider has a focus on improving key foundation skills in literacy and numeracy.

The College reports that:
• In 2016/2017 98% of completing AP learners achieved a formal qualification, these qualifications included 90% Functional Skills E3-L2 in Maths and English, 79% PHSA and Employability and 72% ITQ qualification.
• Progression rates for learners moving from AP provision to main college provision on Access ESOL, FE and Vocational Studies was 95% at the end of 2016/17.

Age range
Key Stage 4.

Accreditation
Each course programme will offer a range of academic and vocational curricula, alongside outdoor pursuits. The aim of varying course programmes is to ensure that all young people are successfully engaged in mainstream curriculum activities that offer nationally recognised and accredited qualifications in line with the national curriculum and include access to lifelong learning and career pathways to prevent them becoming NEET at post-16.

English and Maths will be offered at both functional skills and GCSE levels depending on the ability of the student.

How Providers were evaluated for inclusion on the Framework

The providers have been awarded to a framework to deliver alternative education to all children and young people at Key Stage 1, 2, 3 and 4 who are:

• permanently excluded from school; or
• excluded from school on a fixed term basis; or
• at risk of disengaging from mainstream education and/or being excluded from school; or
• require additional support during a negotiated transfer between mainstream schools; or
• otherwise require alternative education provision to meet their educational entitlement, for instance in line with a Statement of Special Educational Needs/EHCP or are a Child in Care with no school place.

Requirements for entry onto Framework
This comprised evaluation in the following areas of activity:

• Economic and Financial Standing
• Technical and Professional Ability
• Insurance
• Compliance with Equality Legislation
• Environmental Management
• Health and Safety
• Service Delivery Model
• Skilled Workforce
• Safeguarding
• Registration, Admission and Induction
• Progress Reporting
• Attendance and Challenging Behaviours
• Return to School and Transitions
• Relationships with Stakeholders
• Internal Quality Assurance

Please note that the award to the framework by Northumberland County Council does not remove or affect any of the statutory obligations and duties upon schools in relation to the provision of education or the exclusion of children and young people from school. Further, it does not affect the agreed practice in relation to this activity locally.

Any child or young person placed by a school in alternative education provision, either full or part time, remains on the roll of that school and responsibility for delivering the full time statutory education offer and all other duties in respect of that child remain with the school. Where a child or group of children are engaged in a preventative programme, whether on or off site, they remain the responsibility of the school. Specifically, the commissioning school remains responsible for the monitoring and tracking of progress of individual children and young people and confirming that the provision given is of good quality, value for money and meets the pupil’s needs.
Appendix B
Advice on Registration of independent schools

Part A: Scope of the arrangements

An independent school is defined as any school at which full-time education is provided for five or more pupils of compulsory school age, or one or more such pupils with an EHC plan or a statement of special educational needs or who is "looked after" by the local authority, and is not a school maintained by a local authority or a non-maintained special school. A child is "looked after by a local authority" if he or she is in its care or is provided with accommodation for a continuous period of more than 24 hours by the authority under certain of its social services functions (see section 22 of the Children Act 1989).

If your establishment falls outside the definition of an independent school given above, it cannot be registered with the department as an independent school. However, local authorities will need to be satisfied that children of compulsory school age who are attending your establishment are receiving full-time education suitable to their age, ability, aptitude and any special educational needs they may have, including any provision being made in parallel to that in your establishment.

It is an offence to operate an unregistered independent school, and anyone who does so is liable on summary conviction to a fine and/or imprisonment.

Full-time education

There is no legal definition of ‘full time’. However, we would consider an institution to be providing full-time education if it is intended to provide, or does provide, all, or substantially all, of a child’s education.

Relevant factors in determining whether education is full-time include:

a) the number of hours per week that is provided - including breaks and independent study time;

b) the number of weeks in the academic term year the education is provided;

c) the time of day it is provided;

d) whether the education provision in practice precludes the possibility that full-time education could be provided elsewhere.

Generally, we consider any institution that is operating during the day, for more than 18 hours per week, to be providing full-time education. This is because the education being provided is taking up the substantial part of the week in which it can be reasonably expected a child can be educated, and therefore indicates that the education provided is the main source of education for that child.

Ofsted may inspect an institution it reasonably considers is operating as an unregistered independent school. In such cases, Ofsted will assess whether the school meets the definition of an independent school, which will include assessing whether or not the school is intending to provide, or is providing, all or substantially all of a child’s education.
Compulsory school age

A child begins to be of compulsory school age on the prescribed day which either falls on or follows a person’s fifth birthday. The prescribed days are currently 31st August, 31st December and 31st March, i.e. the term following the child’s fifth birthday.

A young person ceases to be of compulsory school age on the school leaving date in the academic year in which they turn 16. The school leaving date is currently set as the last Friday in June. Raising the participation age (RPA, as set out in Chapter 1 of the Education and Skills Act 2008) does not affect the compulsory school age. However, its effect is that a young person who has ceased to be of compulsory school age but has not yet reached the age of 18 (or attained a level 3 qualification), is under a duty to participate in education or training.

Early years

Establishments that cater for children under the age of 5 will also be required to register as an independent school if they meet the definition of an independent school. They will also be required to implement the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) for children aged under 5 although they can later seek exemption from some aspects of EYFS if they meet qualifying criteria.

If the school does not fall within the definition of an independent school because it caters solely for children under 5 it must be registered with Ofsted Early Years Directorate - tel: 0300 123 1231.

Education for 16-19 year olds

An independent school that provides solely for students over compulsory school age does not need to register with the department. The department does not exercise any direct statutory control over the independent sector of further and higher education, nor is that sector governed by regulations applying to maintained or assisted further and higher education institutions.

Establishments that cater for five or more compulsory school age pupils, or one or more such pupils with a statement of special educational needs, or who is looked after, as well as those over the age of 16 will however be required to register as an independent school.

Special Educational Needs

There is no legal definition of an ‘independent special school’, although that title is sometimes used for around 500 independent schools which have described themselves as being specially organised to cater for children with SEN. The application form for registration asks whether the school is to be specially organised in this way, and this is recorded on Edubase, which constitutes the Register of Independent Schools.
