I was born in Carlisle and went to Caldew School Dalston. I did a degree at Manchester University and then returned to Carlisle.

I qualified as a Chartered Accountant with Armstrong Watson in Carlisle.

Most of my working life has been spent in industry. I worked for Nissan Motor Manufacturing in their tax department and also at Glanbia Foods at Lockerbie and Pinnies at Annan.

I am married with two grown up children and one granddaughter. We lived in Brisbane Australia for a number of years.

Our granddaughter keeps us busy. I follow Carlisle United for my sins and also local non-league football. We live in the North East at Hetton-Le-Hole which is the site of the first railway in the world – designed by George Stephenson.
