Ashley Arkle

Councillor
Rothbury Parish Council

I have been a resident of Rothbury for 52 years. I have been a Parish Councillor for over 4 years. I am married with three grown children. My husband and I run a small construction business employing local people and we have some rental and holiday let properties in the village. My career has mostly been in administration working in television and then local government. I care about our village and making it future proof for our young people. I look forward to working with you.
